Examiner's Amendment

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Mary Kakefuda on 22 June 2005.

IN THE CLAIMS:

27. (Currently amended) A plant comprising in its plastid genome ~~comprising~~ a first expression cassette comprising a plastid promoter operably linked to a nucleotide sequence encoding a trehalose 6-phosphate synthase ~~under control of a promoter capable of directing the expression of said nucleotide sequence in a plastid of said plant~~ and second expression cassette comprising a plastid promoter operably linked to a nucleotide sequence encoding a trehalose-6-phosphate phosphatase ~~under control of a promoter capable of directing the expression of said nucleotide sequence in a plastid of said plant~~, wherein said plant produces trehalose.

28. (Currently amended) A plant comprising in its plastid genome ~~comprising~~ an expression cassette comprising a first nucleotide sequence encoding a trehalose 6-phosphate synthase and a second nucleotide sequence trehalose-6-phosphate phosphatase, wherein said plant produces trehalose.

29. (Currently amended) A The plant according to claim 28, wherein said first and second nucleotide sequences are transcribed from a single promoter in an operon-like polycistronic

Art Unit: 1638

gene, wherein said promoter is capable of directing the expression of said ~~operon-like~~ ~~polycistronic gene~~ first and second nucleotide sequences in a plastid of said plant, and wherein said plant produces trehalose.

IN THE ABSTRACT:

The invention provides novel stress tolerant transgenic plants which express trehalose 6-phosphate synthase and trehalose-6-phosphate phosphatase in their plastids, ~~including plants in which the enzyme is expressed under control of an inducible or tissue-specific promoter through use of a nuclear-encoded transactivator.~~

Examiner's Statement Of Reasons For Allowance

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Claims 27-29 are free of the prior art, given the failure of the prior art to teach or suggest plants whose plastids are transformed with an expression cassette comprising a nucleic acid encoding an trehalose-6-phosphate synthase (TPS) and trehalose-6-phosphate phosphatase (TPP) expressed from a plastid promoter. The closest prior art is as follows:

Goddijn et al (1997, Plant Physiol. 113:181-190) disclose drought resistant tobacco plants and seeds transformed with an expression cassette comprising a nucleic acid encoding E. coli TSP or TPP expressed from the CaMV 35S promoter (pg 184-187). Goddijn et al do not disclose plants whose plastids have been transformed with a nucleic acid encoding TPS and TPP.

Daniell et al (US Patent 5,693,507, filed January, 1991) teach plastid transformation of plants (claims 22-23; column 9, line 55, to column 15, line 60).

Art Unit: 1638

At the time the invention was made, it would not have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the method of producing drought tolerant plants as taught by Goddijn et al, to express a nucleic acid encoding TPS and TPP in plant plastids. Although Daniell et al suggest transforming plant plastids with genes providing drought tolerance (column 6, line 61), the expression of TPS and TPP is not suggested.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
